

Free breakfast & a naked entrepreneur...

ProVERB (the Professional Voice of East Riding Businesses) is a newly established voluntary group of small business owners, working with East Riding of Yorkshire Council to get micro businesses heard.

So whether you're thinking of setting up your own small business or you've been running one for years, this free, informal and lighthearted event has been designed with you in mind.

Registration begins at 9.30am with a light breakfast then, following a brief introduction, enjoy relating to the many and varied challenges of running a small business in a lively and entertaining presentation from our guest speaker, David Watkins aka 'The Naked Entrepreneur'.*

Afterwards, stay a while to chat informally with ProVERB members, Councillor Jane Evison (portfolio holder for Economy, Investment and Inequalities) and each other.

So come along - air your views, share your experiences and have a laugh. And perhaps even make a few new friends and connections while you're at it.

*Please note: There is no actual nudity at this event!

'Free breakfast & a naked entrepreneur...' is part of this year's Humber Business Week (Biz Week).

pro·verb
The Professional Voice of East Riding Businesses

Working with East Riding of Yorkshire Council to get micro business owners heard

When: 9.30am - Noon Wednesday 4th June
Where: Driffield Rugby Club
Cost: Free

Book early to avoid disappointment at:

<http://goo.gl/Hj6y8W>

(Copy and paste the short URL above into your browser to be redirected to our Eventbrite booking form.)

EAST RIDING
OF YORKSHIRE COUNCIL

